

As a user, I want to be able to view the train's running status in real-time, so that I can stay updated on any changes or delays. Acceptance criteria: The train's running status is displayed in real-time. The running status includes information about any delays, cancellations, or changes in schedule. Users can easily access the running status for both the train's departure and return journeys. The running status is updated frequently to reflect any changes or delays.
